Under an Act of Incorporation granted by the Kentucky This is an age of progress. Men live fast, work hard, and die quiek. Perhaps it would be better if it were not so. But, in the spirit of true philosophy, we must take matters as we find them, not as we would wish them-as they are, and not as they should be. Each must not only consent that others may keep up with the s, but must drink deep of the spirit of goahead-a-tiveness characteristic more particularly of this country and this people, or be laggard in the race of improvement, moral, mental, physical, and mechanical, in which we are rushing forward to the highest attainable civilization and the ne plus ultra of refinement.

The Courier has been eminently and emphati cally a progressive newspaper, giving its readers the latest and most reliable information from the four quarters of the globe, in poli tics, in mechanics, in agriculture, in regard to education, commerce, manufactures, about every thing on the land or on the water, in which they felt, or might be expected to feel, an interest. Several amusing occurrences have transpired in and around about us lately, causing a deal of merriment and speculation to many, and some small annoyance to a few. A quiet wedding took in the very heart of New England. The majority, for Rhode Island, is large. This, taken with small annoyance to a few. A quiet wedding took place about two weeks since—a morning wedding—one of those weddings where the bride and bridegroom are constrained to banish sleep the night before from over anxiety as to the result of the morrow's dawn. Well, this wedding came off, all parties in high glee, the company dispersing as the happy pair started to town to catch the afternoon express train for Porkopolis. The party included the bride and groom, their attendants, four in number—two sighing maids and two gallant bucks—and one other who believing in luck and odd numbers, volunteered his services as general supervisor, going along to the Democratic gain of over 1,200 in a single year in Connecticut, is indeed cheering. "Michelet's Woman" is a volume of naked truth on a delicate subject. The New York edition has been out a week only, and more than ten thousand copies have been sold. The same publishers have sold of its predecessor, "L'Amour," fitty-five thousand copies, and the demand is still active. Two classes of people buy these books—the earnest and the licentious. The former find in Michelet's work the truest, boldest, tenderest plea ever made in behalf of Woman; the latter, with prurient depravity, find only exhibitions of suffering and weakness, by which they learn more easily to overcome their prey. The author analyzes his subject as carefully as the botanist his lower; and lays bare the quivering heart of the mystery. The love of woman is the natural religion of man; it is the very bond of immortality. Her life-longing is simply to fulfill her destiny—reproduce her kind—bear her fruit and die; to bud, blossom, ripen, fall and disappear. To this natural prayer and yearning necessity of her being, society imposes a thousand cruel obstacles. There are eighteen hundred thousand marriageable women in France without husbands; one hundred and tifty thousand unmarried women in London, half of whom perambulate the streets nightly, seeking whom they may devour! This, in England, is called "the great social evil;" but Michelet regards it as a great erime. He proposes to remedy it by persuading young men to marry, and the object of his books is to make woman appear more lovely and loveable in the eyes of man; and yet, he has the candor to add, that if the laws of France prohibited woman from inheriting or holding property, all legal marriages would cease!

A Case of Disputed Legitimacy-One of the Marriages. the Marriages.

[From the Cleveland Plaindealer.]

The Cleveland Court of Common Pleas had before it this week the celebrated case of Pendergrast vs Ives, which, from the scandal and peculiar circumstances connected with it, has acquired a large amount of notoriety throughout the country. A synopsis of the main facts of the case, as adduced on the trial, may not be out of place. The late Samuel C. Ives was a celebrated brewer in Cleveland, and died in 185% possessed brewer in Cleveland, and died in 185% possessed. rewer in Cleveland, and died in 1855, possessed f a large amount of property. In 1849 he nade the acquaintance of a Mrs. Pendergrast, woman in poor circumstances, and conceivbrewer in Cleveland, and died in 1856; possessed of a large amount of property. In 1840 he made the acquaintance of a Mrs. Pendergrast, a woman in poor circumstances, and conceiving an improper attachment for her, a difficulty ensued between him and his wife, which terminated in the latter obtaining a divore. The parties, Ives and Mrs. Pendergrast co-habited for some years, but in 1856, the brewer feeling sick, and aware, perhaps, that the hand of death was upon him, returned to the house of his wife who, with her daughter, watched over his death-bed and solaced his last moments. He was not unmindful of the kindness, for he bequeathed his child his entire estate, then and now very valuable. This was in August, and in the December following, Mrs. Pendergast gave birth to a child which she claims to be the legitimate off-spring of Ives, the latter having made her his wife after his divorce, and, as such, entitled to a portion of his estate—his will to the contrary notwithstanding. She states that they went to Plainsville together, and there, in the absence of a clergyman, and without witnesses, they married themselves, going throughas much of the Episcopal marriage service as they could remember, and taking each other "for better or worse"—Mr. Ives holding that this was quite as binding as if the ceremony were performed in the usual roundabout way. Mr. Ives did not live with her after this, but continued to visit her frequently, and told several parties of the peculiar way in which the marriage had been performed. The child, referred to before, the third she had by Mr. Ives, was born subsequent to this marriage, and hence the claim for part of the father's estate. The plaintiff requested the Court to charge the jury that a marriage might be legally entered into between the parties by their mutual agreement per verba de presenti, as the lawyers call it, thereby omitting all the requisitions of parties sustaining the marriage relation. Upon this holding the plaintiff's counsel consented that a verdict proforma shou

BY SARAH SHELLEY CEEMER. Nora is dying, as well as the year, And mine is the sad, sweet task To smooth her pillow, and sit by her side, And tell what her soft eyes ask.

The tresses over my fingers glide, As I braid her long, brown hair. And twine it around her queenly brow Ere the death damp settles there.

Nora is dying—is leaving the world— Is passing out to the night. The one brief night that lies between us And the morn of eternal light. Nora is dying, but I am calm, I willingly let her go— It is not best all women should live, God and the angels know.

Some women must suffer, some women must weep, And 'tis better that they should die

And 'tis better that they should die fhan harrow the lives of those they love, With a breaking heart's long cry.

Close them gently, and press a last kiss On her lips, O heart of despair, Then leave me alone to twine the white flowers In the braids of her long brown hair. And let them bring me her bridal dress, Nora wished it before she died— Wished me to make her toilet in death The same as she wore thy bride,

Three little negroes were with her at the time of the accident, none of whom were injured. Miss Benson was about twenty years old. The family, except Miss Lucinda, were at church.

ANOTHER.—On Monday last, John Everhart, son of Joseph Everhart, Esq., of Nine Mile prairie, in the eastern part of this county, was accidentally killed. He was plowing in a field of his father's when the horses took fright. In attempting to stop them, he became entangled in the gearing, and was dragged a distance of about three-fourths of a mile. Whilst running, the plow struck him just above the hip bone and passed through the body, coming out just below the nipple. While suffering under the pain of the accident, he begged those present to kill him. He lived about three hours. He was about sixteen years old.

A lad, John Slieze, was found dead in his father's stable, at Elk Grove, Ilis., on Friday. The jury returned as their verdict, that the boy had hung himself, through desperation and grief, produced by the cruel treatment of his father. The deceased lad was found by his younger brother, hanging by a rope in the stable, and although he was instantly taken down, all efforts to resuscitate him proved unavailing. He had tied the rope to a beam, stood on a barrel underneath, fixed the noese about his neck, and then jumped off the barrel, and choked himself to death. His father displayed no signs of sorrow or remorse, at the sight of the body of his son, whom he had driven to suicide.

France prohibited woman from inheriting or holding property, all legal marriages would cease?

But the great objection to matrimony the world over, seems to be this: that courting ceases with the hymenial ceremony, and love dies in the very hour of consummation, like "the night blooming cereus, in the moment of its fullest expansion. The bird is caged; solicitude ceases; possession palls; the pet cannot fly away, so we cease to caress it. And thus people exchange "single blessedness" for double misery; live mutually distasteful lives; and sleep in nuptial couches at a temperature that would freeze Mercury. Michelet seeks to make marriage a sacrament, and its daily duties a succession of holy mysteries, both physical and metaphysical. His revalations are too sacred for vulgar eyes; but to the reverent minded, tender hearted, they afford a new inspiration for the adoration of the Virgin, and the veneration of the Madonna. I have heard a medical student say that after dissecting a beautiful female "subject," he could never look upon a woman without seeing a wonderful articulation of bones, ligaments and tissues, composing the beautiful anatomy of the being so "fearfully and wonderfully made." It is impossible to think of woman, after reading Michelet, without being touched to tenderness and pity, by the manifold sorrows hidden within her blooming breast. What gentle and holy secrets beneath the veil of concealment, are forever nestling there. A woman cannot tell her utmost wishes; nor embody and unbosom that which is most within her. The truth of nature, the very voice of God must be denied and stifled. Michelet seeks to interpret, to translate this voiceless, ceasless, prayer of woman. He has pressed his ear closely to her heart, and listened devoutly to her inarticulate language. And every pulsation of that delicate organization utters the one life-long cry, "love me, love me." And so, my darling, you shall be loved—infinitely and forever.

We learn that a number of the friends of Mr. Henry Shaw paid him a visit Saturday evening last, when the verdict of the jury in the breach of promise case was known, and complimented him with a serenade. The "defendant" looked quite smiling and jovial, and opened some long necked bottles on the occasion.

A gentleman who came in Sunday evening on the Pacific railroad, reports having seen a pole some thirty feet in hight surmounting the "Tower," (Mr. Shaw's residence,) from the top of which flapped a red flag.

the reader will perceive, contradicts in total her testimony on the stand:

It is the desire of the prosecution to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Land; hence the necessity for the Commonwealth to establish the murder by circumstantial evidence. Mr. Peters was followed by Tazewell Taylor for the defense. Mr. Taylor pursued nearly the same line of defense as was followed in the Stekkes case. All the correspondence was read by Mr. Taylor, among which was Mrs. Land's statement to her brother Frank, the substance of which is as follows:

On the 16th of June, Mrs. Land discovered her husband in flogranti delicto and reproached him for it, at which he (Land) retorted by accusing her of a want of chastity. On the 17th of June she started to go and tell her sister. Mrs. Finnagan, her troubles, when Land seized his gun and threatened to shoot Finnagan if she did; she succeeded in pacifying him, however, and he then went to the C. H. to see H. M. Woodhouse, Esq.; he returned with a paper, which he requested Mrs. L. to sign; on the morning of the 18th, the day of the murder, she saw Land talking to Laura, a servant; shortly afterwards Fianagan approached the house; came in, and was shot down; she (Mrs. L.) screamed, ran out of the house and fainted, and when she came to she was lying on a pile of boards; Land approached her and said: "I have killed him; he is dead; what shall I do?" She advised him to kill her and then shoot himself. Then followed the details of the escape, &c., &c.

Q. Did you not write to her, urging her to make a statement in full very soon, and that you would keep it secret until the trial of her hugband was over?

A. I recollect something of that sort, and never would have betrayed her under different circumstances. My reason for her to make a statement soon was that it might have more weight with the public mind. My motive then, as now, was the salvation of her character. If I am danined now in the estimation of all mankind, I state the truth, so help me God! I state the truth in the whole affair.

Q. I think if you will ask my sister, she will tell you, after the trial is over; if her husband was condemned or acquitted, I intended to have it published and read by some influential men in the county, to show that she was not a vicious woman; it was not to be read in evidence on the trial of her husband to contradict her testimony or other statement, and have told the reason why I betrayed the trust reposed in me.
Q. Did you or not hold the retraction over her to prevent her first statement of the same purport as her testimony in court?

A. I did not, I did not hold it to introduce it in court.

I entered the parlor and saw her and her brother sitting in the parlor, the two alone; Mrs. Land was sitting in lor and saw her and her brother sitting in the parlor, the two alone; Mrs. Land was sitting in the rocking-chair, with her hands covering her face, sobbing aloud. I stopped a minute, perhaps approached, and then told her that I was sent to bring her into court. She exclaimed, "My God, what shall I do?" Mr. Whitehurst remarked, "Amy," or "sister, be calm." During the examination of Mr. Woodhouse, the brother of Mrs. Land, Mr. Wise became excited, using severe language to the witness, questioning his integrity in a style of most withering rebuke and bitter sarcasm. The witness, writhing under the torture caused by an assertion of Mr. Wise that he had perjured himself already, called the Governor a liar. Mr. Wise now gave the witness the renewed force of his powerful battery, replete with bitter invective and scorching sarcasm. Many could not have stood it. Things went on pretty hot and the scene became intensely and painfully interesting. The witness made the most humble apologies, and his pardon was granted with an admonitory lecture. A letter from Rome to the Boston Transcript gives the particulars of the discovery by Mr. Newton, the British Consul for Rome, of the city and ruins of the great mausoleum of Halicarnassus, erected about B. C. 350, to the memory of Mausolus, by his wife and successor Artinusia. His researches were eminently successful and satisfactory, and were explained by Mr. Newton in a lecture, when he also gave his theory of the form and size of the tomb—a quadrangular building of about 412 feet in circuit, 102 feet in hight, terminating in a platform, upon which stood a beautiful Quadriga, or four horse chariot, in which, sitting or standing, was the statue of Mausolus.

MELANCHOLY SUIGIDE.—A melancholy case of suicide for want of employment occurred at Buffalo on Saturday. A sober, industrious young man, named Edward Hitchcome, aged 33 years, a ship carpenter by trade, destroyed his life deliberately, assigning as a reason his inability to obtain employment. He had been unable to obtain any work during the winter, and told his step-mother that as he was entirely useless he had better die than live. Opium was the fatal drug used.

Taylor, Esq., a native of Philadelphia, where he was well known as an accomplished and skillful shipmaster, died January 27th last, in the fifty-third year of his age, at Sierra Leou, west coast of Africa, where he was acting in capacity of American consul. What makes this intelligence more painful is the departure of Mrs. Taylor, on the 24th ult., by bark Aaron J. Harvey, from Philadelphia, to rejoin her husband.

LOUISVILLE. THURSDAY MORNING ... .. APRIL 5

The Canyass for the Presidency. In two months, the conventions of the Demo eratic, the Black Republican, and the Union par ties will have met, constructed their platforms, nominated their candidates for President, and the canvass will be fairly opened. In view of the momentous results depending upon thes dings, affecting every citizen of America and all friends of Republicanism throughout the world, and involving the dearest hopes of mankind, we may reasonably expect the leaders of these parties, the prominent politicians of the country, to rise for once above the arts of the demagogue and to act for the whole country. The Democratic Convention meets first, at Charleston, on the 23d inst., and its course will. to a great extent, shape the action of the other

There can now be no doubt that three tickets will be in the field, the Democratic, the Black Republican, and the Union party. If the Charlesble to the slaveholding States, he will, unques tionably, get the following electoral vote, to-wit: Delaware, 3; Maryland, 8; Virginia, 15; North Carolina, 10; South Carolina, 8; Georgia, 10; Alabama, 9: Florida, 3; Mississippi, 7; Louisiana, 6; Texas, 4; Arkansas, 4; Missouri, 9; Tennessee, 12; Kentucky, 12: California, 4; Oregon, 3-total 127. This will lack 25 of an election. There can scarcely be a doubt that a judicious nomination will secure Indiana's 13 votes, the 27 from Penn. sylvania, and the 7 from New Jersey, together making twenty-two more than necessary to a choice; and in addition Connecticut with 6 votes Maine with 8, and New York with 35, are not alcan carry all these States, with 223 votes. We doubt very much whether with any other candidate their votes could be relied upon. If he be nominated, the Baltimore Convention, which eets on the 9th of May, despairing of securing for their candidate a single electoral vote in the slave States, will make a nomination with a view to support in the North. It is not at all improbable, in that event, that Mr. Bates, of Missouri, who has recently put himself on the Black Republican platform, but who is not sufficiently ecceptable to the ultra wing of that party to ge the nomination at Chicago, will be chosen as standard bearer by the Union party men, in fort to crush the President has ingloriously which case he will get a large vote in many of the free States; and as it will be mainly drawn from the Black Republicans, several States not enumerated in our calculation may vote for the Demoeratic candidate. If, instead of Bates, Crittenden or Bell should be nominated at Baltimore the result will be but little less favorable to the Democracy. We think it is pretty well settled that Seward will be the nominee of the Chicago Convention, with, probably, Lincoln for Vice President. But with GUTHRIE as the nominee of the Charleston Convention, and either Bell, er Seward or another, is inevitable. Should, however, the Charleston Convention in a fit of inexplicable madness, select as its candidate Mr. Douglas, the whole field would be changed, and only the most disastrous results could be anticipated.

OBSERVER OBSERVER.

There could be no better testimony (before the meeting of the Charleston Convention,) of the weakness of Senator Douglas in his party, and the fears and desperation of his friends, than the circular issued by Gordon Tanner, and others, in Indiana, calling for five hundred volunteers to go from that State to Charleston, and carry their own provisions and bedding, and tent to cover them, with the express and avowed purpose of "representing public opinion." What are the delegates of Indiana for, if not to represent the opinion of the party? Is it necessary to back up each delegate with fifty men, that they may not wince and grow weak in the knees when the South thunders? The Douglas managers in Indiana are verdant. The announcement that an attempt is made to raise five hundred men, to go to Charleston, to blow the trumpet for Douglas, and that this regiment will carry with them tents and provisions, boxes of cigars, and jugs of whisky, shawls and blankets, that they may not spend a cent in the South, will excite surprise, diaguas, scorn, and indignation. It was not so that the representatives of the South came up to the Cinnati Convention. They came as gentlemen, and paid their bills with very little grumbling. for if they had been defeated, success this Fall would have been admitted impossible. The friends of Bates, of Lincoln, of Cameron, and of other Black Republican Presidential aspirants, the c were equally interested in securing the election of Buckingham; for if he had been defeated, neither of them, if nominated, would have had the ghost of a chance for the White House. On the other hand, the friends of Mr. Douglas in the Democratic party, having nothing to lose, but everything to gain, were, many of them, perfectly willing to have it in their power to attribute the defeat of Seymour to the "Senate caucus resolutions," in order to convince Southern Democrats that on a sound platform and with a sound candidate no Northern State could be carried this Fall, hoping thus to secure the nomination of their favorite, on grounds of expe-diency, by the Charleston Convention. There is representatives of the South came up to the Cincinnati Convention. They came as gentlemen, and paid their bills with very little grumbling, considering the disproportion between the comforts afforded to, and the cash demanded of, most of them. Besides the Southern delegates were men who knew what they wanted, and had the pluck to stand up for themselves. They did not require hordes of teachers.

We pity the committee that goes to Charleston to make arrangements for pitching that "waterproof tent"—and many will be the sorrows of those who make their way to the Democratic metropolis, expecting to sleep under the thing.— Cincinnati Commercial. no doubt that a large majority of the friends of this gentleman entered heartily into the canvass, and gave the Democratic candidate a warm support; but others, having predicted the triumph of the Black Republicans, for the reason above mentioned, we have reasons to fear, did not discharge their duty to the party with the zeal due But, though the gallant Seymour is defeated, the enemies of the Democracy have nothing to boast of. They were met in an open field, on clear and sharply defined issues, in their strong-hold, and they have barely elected their chosen SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—Judge Watson lately fell dead in England just as he had finished charging the jury. It is very remarkable that this sad event took place on the anniversary of the sudden death of Judge Talfourd, whose fate was similar. He, too, died after he had completed his charge to the jury. Will those versed in such singular coincidences give us a homily on the event? and most popular champion. The majority of 8,000 less than four years ago, and of nearly 2,000 but one, has dwindled down, under the steady fire of the National Democracy, to less than 600! Able argument was made in favor of the protest, but the Court did not sustain it, consequently it was set aside. The Pope and the King. The Publication of the confidential correspondence between Victor Emmanuel and the Pope, which has found its way to Munich, and been issued there, has occacioned an immense sensation in the Catholle world. These letters are only three in number—the first written so long ago as the day fixed for the meeting of the Congress, and expresses not much more than the grief and humiliation experienced by his Holiness at the affront put upon the Church in the late transactions. A remarkable feature in this letter, is, however, the absence of that personal benediction which it is the custom to bestow upon the sons of the Church to whom the Pope condescends to write. The second letter is the answer dispatched by Victor Emmanuel to this epistle. This is of great length, and enters into the closest details relevant to the position in which the King then stood. The defense of his conduct with regard to the Romagnas is simple enough, and little calculated to convey hope or security to the bosom of his Holiness. "The Romagnas," says the letter, "have beheld the authority of the Pope destroyed by a spontaneous movement of the Population. The King has never for a moment secepted the position offered him by these populations. But Victor Emmanuel could not remain an indifferent spectator to their fate."

The King then retraces the vast efforts made by his father for the deliverance of Italy, and the immense inheritance of danger and responsibility which, after a death brought on by the severe struggle in which the latter years of his life had all been spent, he bequeathed to his son. The King is bent on the emancipation of Italy, and this task is already more than half accomplished, thanks to the help afforded by his generous ally, the Emperor of the French. Then Victor Emmanuel goes on to quote the names of several illustrions prelates of the Church, who have declared that the Church stands in no need of temporal grandeur to sustain her spiritual power. He hopes, therefore, that Pius IX will enter into the views of those prelates, The publication of the confidential correspondence between Victor Emmanuel and the Pope, which has found its way to Munich, and been the correspondent an immens express.

Naples.

Letters from Naples recount the arbitrary proceedings of the Government in matters of arrests and benishment, which are said to have been on a scale which even the late King would not have attempted. The London Times draws an editorial picture of the state of affairs, and remarks that it would be a libel on humanity to suppose that the King's Government can remain unchanged. It thinks the day of retribution is probably at hand; and that another royal fugitive may soon give that warning to Kings which has been so often repeated in our times. The fermentation continued very great in Sielly. At Palermo the prisons were overflowing with the persons arrested. The British and other foreign Ministers are said to have remonstrated with the King on the course he was pursuing.—The Naples correspondent of the London Times, under date of March 10th, says:

"Of course, the prisons are full; the facchini, and all those of the basse class have been drafted off into the Vlearia; many have been sent to St. Maria Apparente, which is full of old and new victims—some of the former having been there for more than three years without trial, while others still linger in those places of temporary deposit, the prisons of the Prefecture. There are several statements as to the number of those who have been arrested, but I should imagine are several statements as to the number of those who have been arrested, but I should imagine who have been arrested, but I should imagine that several hundreds have been seized; among them I am positively assured are 20 priests. As to the provinces, I can say, on the authority of a distinguished personage, that 890 or 990 persons have been arrested up to the middle of the week; sod the returns up to the present moment would probably give a far greater number. Though the Government has not condescended to assign any reasons for its razzia, it is impossible to believe that it has acted without motives or a plan, and, as far as I can ascertain, they are as follows: It affects to have discovered a widely organized conspiracy—and the only wonder is, if true, that it has not been organized before; at the same time if years that upward of 4,000 muskets have been landed in Naples, and as many more have been introduced here the Purchini, who are

CURE FOR CANCER.—Mr. Thomas Anderson gives the following recipe for cancer, which he says has been of great service in several dangerous cases: "Boil line Tarkey figs in new milk, which they will thicken, when they are tender, split and apply them as warm as they can be borne to the part affected, whether broken or not; the part minst be washed every time the poultice is changed with some of the milk; use a fresh poultice night and morning, and at least once during the day, and drink a quarter of a pint of the milk the figs are boiled in twice in the twenty-four hours. If the stomach will bear it this must be persevered in for three or four months at least. A man aged 105 years was cured, about six years before his death, with only six pounds of figs. The cancer, which began at the corner of his mouth, had eaten through his law, check, and half way down his throat; yet he was so perfectly cured as never to show any tendency to return. Should if ever do 80, the figs should be again applied. The first application gives a great deal of pain, but afterwards each dressing gives relief. A woman cured by this remedy had been gillicted ten years; her breasts bled excessively; ten pounds cured her."—London paper.

Failures in Massachuseits—Effect on Business—The Boston Traveller learns that there have been many failures in the country during the last few months, of business men who, while they survived the crash of 1857, were so crippled that they have been compelled to go into liquidation. This has caused quite a large amount of losses to Boston houses during the past winger, which was not calculated upon, and has operated to make business duller than it would otherwise have been. It is probable we have now reached nearly the card of the rope, although it is quite likely that the great amount of suspended labor in the shoe districts will lessen consumption during the present spring to a greater extent on the home trade than is now calculated upon, and perhaps depress the price of some staple articles which enter largely into general consumption. A firm in the woolen trade, which failed a week or two ago in Boston, commenced business in 1858 with a capital of $13,000. They gave $3,500 a year for the rent of their store, and have now failed with liabilities running up to about $80,000. Among their assets is $18,000 of the suspended paper of parties who have recently failed in consequence of losses incurred in the troubles of 1857,

Poisons in Liquors.—The extensive adulteration in liquors offered in the market as pure, and the introduction of poisonous ingredients into those which are pronounced healthful, may well excite alarm and call for the attention of our Legislature. Why there should be so much brain fever, delirium tremens, and so much sudden death among our young men who indulge at the bar, cannot be explained upon any common principles. An expert chemist of this city bought of an importer a bottle of what was called genuine champagne. Analyzation proved it to contain one quarter of an onne of sugar of lead.

A SPIRITED WOMAN—Quite an excitement was created in South Second street, Philadelphia, on Monday, in consequence of Mrs. John Meagher having attempted to shoot Geo. Bromley, who, she alleges, made repeated insulting propositions to her. Mrs. M. keeps a stall in the market house, where she fired a revolver at Bromley. The ball missed its aim, when she snatched up a cleaver and attacked him with this hands before she was seized and prevented from doing further mischief. The husband of the woman was present during the fracas. At the Alderman's office, the prisoner expressed her regret that she had not killed Bromley. She was committed in default $1,500 bail to answer the charge of assault and battery and intent to kill.

charge of assault and oatery and meen to kil.

The Courrier des Etats Unis says that when our minister, Mr. Faulkner, entered the Tuilleries at Paris, to present his letters, &c., to Louis Napoleon, he passed through several crowded rooms, in one of which was his majesty. Mr. Faulkner, not perceiving him, kept on his way, when some chamberlain or usher told him of the imperial presence. The Emperor laughed at the mistake, saying, "They can never again assure me that the majesty of my person alone proclaims to beholders my imperial rank!" What Mr. Faulkner replied is not stated.

Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla. This invaluable remedy has already carried happiness t the hearts of thousands, and is daily giving more console tion to the afflicted than could be afforded by all the wealth in the mines of Galifornia and the world combined. It is put up in full quart bottles, and contains the strength of six times as much pure Hondaras Sarsaparilla as any FOR 83.

It has been a well-established fact for years past that Sarsaparilla, when pure and properly prepared, is the only true Panacea for all diseases originating from an Impure state of the Blood, the use of Mercury, Intoxicating Drinks, Evil Habits in Youth, Barrenness, &c. PRICE $1 PER BOTTLE, OR SIX BOTTLES

Evil Habits in Youth, Barrenness, &c.

We boldly assert hat JOHN BULL'S PLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is the only preparation before the public that is prepared on strictly scientific principles and of uniform strength. The Sarsaparilla is purchased with out regard to price; every pound, before being used, is subjected to the strictest chemical tests, and its senuineness ascertained before being used. BULL'S SARSAPARILLA also contains the virtues of everal other Medical Roots, together forming the best Compound and producing the greatest Curative Agent known to the world.

DR. JOHN BULL'S Vegetable Worm Destroyer Is a remedy alike pleasant and effectual for the evil.—
There is not the least difficulty in getting children to take the medicine. It is prepared in the form of Candy Drops, and will be eaten with avidity by children of all ages. It destroys and expels Worms more effectually than any remedy now in use, while at the same time it will in no way affect injuriously the health of the child.

Jacob Strader, Cincinnati, Moderator, St. Louis; Melrose, Southerner, Memphis; Queen of the West, N. O. Kate French, Evansville;

THE RIVER was slowly swelling yesterday, barely an inch in 24 hours, with 5 feet 7 inche water in the canal in the evening, by the mark. On the falls there were fully 3% feet in the pass. The eather was warm in the morning, with a heavy rain before daylight. It then turned chilly, with a very

At Pittsburg, at noon yesterday, the river was rising, with 5% feet water in the channel.

The Cumberland at Nashville, Tuesday, commenced sing, and had risen 10 inches in 24 hours, making 8 set 9 inches on the shoals, with a rise in Caney fork. The Wenona and Glenwood had arrived at Nashville and the Belle Creole departed.

The Atlantic, which arrived from New Orleans yesterday, brings the latest infelligence in regard to the lower river. She reports but 9 feet on the shoalest bars along the lower Ohio, and but 12 feet in the channel between Cairo and Memphis in the Missis-sippi. The L. M. Kennet at Island 30, and the New Uncle Sam at Island 65, were aground, nearly high and dry, without any freight, and no hopes of floating them off excepting by a rise.

The Uncle Sam, Capt. Stewart, is in an ugly and unfortunate predicament, having been seriously dam-aged by an encounter with a snag at Island 83, which raked her starboard side, breaking the engine and the steam pipe. The utmost confusion prevailed for a while, and it was feared 'several lives would be sacrificed by the escaping steam; but luckily no one was injured but Mr. I. Hughes, the engineer. He was knocked overboard, with a shoulder dislocated, but managed to sustain himself in the water, by clinging to a barge stanchion, until rescued. He was in river over half an hour before he was rescued. The Autocrat, that arrived yesterday, relieved th

Uncle Sam of her freight, passengers, and most of the crew. She also brought up the levers and other por-tions of the broken engines to New Albany, where she was built, to have them repaired. It will be some time before the Uncle Sam can again take the track, this season, if at all. She ran aground close under island 65, in what is denominated the chute, though the widest part of the river.

Among the items of freight from the Uncle Sam, rought up by the Autocrat, were 80 bbls and 50 half bbls molasses for New Albany. She had nothing for

During the high wind that prevailed yesterday the spring chain and a hawser of the Eclipse, at Portand, were parted, and an immense rock, or slab, to which the chain had been fastened, was overtur and the boat swung round broadside to the current.— She completely blocked the channel, the bow being at the wharf, and her stern barely grazing the island. After the wind abated, and after Capt. Spotts succeeded in getting other lines out, she was brought in to the shore again, and the channel, or passage, to the canal, was opened again, free and unobstructed. The Southerner, Antocrat, and Atlantic, all reached Portland yesterday about noon, and the mailboat Jacob Strader, for the East, by delaying her departure a short time, got a full list of passengers. The Southerner, last evening, had a good trip for Memphis, with, among her passengers, a dele

THE ATLANTIC-FOR NEW ORLEANS. - The Atlantic, Capt. McGill, arrived from New Orleans at moon yesterday, with the best passenger trip of the season and 169 tons of freight. She was only five days and eighteen hours out, including all delays, which is an extraordinary short passage considering her freight and the low stage of the river. To the clerks, John Woolfolk and Dick Ferguson, we are indebted for the usual favors.

ning, a few minutes after the far-famed Vicksburg, the fleet champion of the South, and at 18 mile point she rau ap alongside of her, and two of the crew of the latter, who had been left in port, and got on the

XXXVIth CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION

Wednesday's Proceedings. Washington, April 4.—Sexarz.—Mr. Gwin moved that the resolutions offered by him yesterday censuring the Comptroller of the Treasury for a decision defeating the express will of Congress, and for refusing to obey its order, thereby incurring the disapprobation of Congress, which renders it improper that he longer remain in office he referred to a committee.

Mr. Saulsbury said that the Comptroller had died. discharged his duty in accordance with the opin-ion of the Attorney General, and was he to be arraigned by the Senate for faithfully discharging

Mr. Green urged the passage of the resolution. Mr. Pugh said he would suggest that the resolutions be laid over. Governor Medill had gone to Ohio on account of illness and had not seen the resolutions, and when he returned he would the resolutions, and when he returned he would meet any charge made against him.

Mr. Green said that Mr. Medill had had a copy of the resolutions, had read them, and had not left for Ohio till after they were presented to the Senate. He wanted the case investigated.

Mr. Bayard said it was not proper for the Senate to condemn an officer and ask for his removal. This was no charge of fraud. An officer had made a decision involving a question of law. Whether it was wrong or not it was not the province of the Senate to decide, nor its right to censure his action.

Mr. Stanton, from the Military Committee, reported back the West Point Appropriation bill, with a recommendation, by a bare majority of the committee, that the House non-concur in the Senate amendment, providing for calling the Senate amendment, providing for calling ing into service a regiment of Texas volunteers. The House, by seven majority, refused to make the subject the special order for Tuesday. The consideration of the Anti-Polygamy bill was resumed, after a lengthy debate.

Mr. Nelson moved the previous question, and the main jquestion was ordered to be put; 114 against 75.

Mr. Nelson, who reported the bill, was allowed n hour to close the debate; without concluding, e gave way to a motion for adjournment, which revailed. Adjourned.

From Washington. shington, April 4.—Mr. Augustus Schell red before Mr. Covode's committee to-day, wasiinviros, April 4—Mr. Augustus Scheli appeared before Mr. Covode's committee to-day, and refused distinctly to produce the list of contributors to the electioneering fund raised by the New York Hotel Committee, without assigning any sufficiently satisfactory reason. He was asked by Mr. Covode whether he did not confer with the President and members of the Cabinet between the period of his first examination, when he admitted having the list among his papers and expressed a willingness to submit, and the second examination next day, when he proposed a written substitute for his testimony of the first day, declining to deliver that paper. He the first day, declining to deliver that paper. He trusted to evade this inquiry by stating that he had seen many persons between those two days. but when pressed directly he admitted he had seen the President and members of the Cabinet, and it was after conference with them that he concluded not to exhibit the list to the com-

At a meeting of the Pacific Railroad Committee last evening, a definite conclusion was arrived at by the adoption of the following resolution, offered by Mr. Curtis, the chairman:

*Resolved*, That the road shall start from two points, one on the western boundary of the State of Missouri and the other on the western boundary of Iowa, with two converging lines bearing westward and uniting within 200 miles of the Missouri river, thence proceeding by a single trunk line by the nearest and best route to the city of San Francisco, or to the mavigable waters of the Sacramento in the State of California.

Arrest of Sanborn.

Boston, April 4.—T. B. Sanborn was arrested at Concord by U. S. officers, last night, under a requisition from the Senate Committee. Judge requisition from the Senate Committee. Judge Hoar of the Supreme Court has issued a writ of habeas corpus, and the hearing is now progressing in this city.

Watson Freeman, jr., Deputy U. S. Marshal, and Silas Carlton, Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms of the U. S. Senate, called at Sanborn's residence at 9 o'clock last night. Sanborn refused to accompany them, when he was hand-cuffed and taken to a carriage at the door, during which he struggled violently, and the members of his family cried murder, fire, &c. The excitement spread, and the town bells were rang, collecting a large crowd.

Rufus Hosmer, a citizen, died suddenly, it is supposed from the excitement the affair occasioned. Sanborn was forcibly taken from the officers by the crowd, and kept out of their power until a writ of habeas corpus could be obtained. It is said that the writ has been prepared for some time in anticipation of the arrest.

Deputy sheriff John B. Moore served the writ of habeas corpus and arrested Sanborn, which ended the mission of the U.S. marshal's posse for the time being. The following is the writ of habeas corpus:

Andros, for the United States. The hearing is before the full bench, consisting of Shaw, Metcalfe, Bigelow, Merrick, and Hoar. The subject of the arrest of Sanborn was introduced in the form of a resolution to employ the State Attorney General for the defense. The resolution was briefly debated and laid on the table.

Boston, April 4th, 4 P. M.—At the hearing of the habeus corpus with in the case of Sanborn, his counsel presented the following points: 1st, That the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senator of Columbia, which is exclusively under the jurisdiction of Congress. 2d, That the precept of arrest being directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms by law, he alone can serve it. 3d, That the Sergeant-at-Arms cannot deputize his powers to others out of the District of Columbia. sinking of the Neptune and sale of the Quarrier are from the Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday:

Mr. Cochran, clerk of the Neptune, arrived from the wreck in Chilo Reach last night. He informs us that she was being raised when he left there yesterday. The Shinkles were succeeding admirably with their champion submarines.

Captain J. K. Johnson yesterday sold his fine Kamawia packet Quarrier to Captain J. Riley Jonnes for eight thousand dollars, for the Memphis and White river trade. The Quarrieris now loading, and leaves for White river direct on Saturday. Captain Jones left Memphis yesterday, and is due here to-day by rail road.

States and the executive officers of this commonwealth.

On the first point taken, the court was not prepared to say that the Senate could not have its precepts served outside the District of Columbia. On the third point, that the Sergeant-at-Arms could not depute his authority to other persons, there was no doubt, and all the courts were agreed that he had no such authority. A warrant of this sort must be limited to the person to whom it is given by the Senate.

The order of the court was that Sanborn be discharged.

The rendition of the decision called forth On the first point taken, the court was not prepared to say that the Senate could not have its precepts served outside the District of Columbia. On the third point, that the Sergeant-at-Arms could not depute his authority to other persons, there was no doubt, and all the courts were agreed that he had no such authority. A warrant of this sort must be limited to the person to whom it is given by the Senate.

The order of the court was that Sanborn be discharged.

The rendition of the decision called forth demonstrations of applause, which were speedily checked. The court room was thronged. Sanborn left with his friends for home. Republican State Convention

Republican State Convention.

Northfield, Vt., April 3.—Hon. Levi L. Underwood, of Burlington, presided over the Republican State Convention held here to-day, when the following delegates were chosen to the Chicago Convention: E. M. Briggs, of Brandon; Peter L. Washburn, of Woodstock; E. D. Mason, of Richmond; and E. C. Reddington, of St. Johnsburg. The following were chosen as substitutes: Reynolds Carpenter, Jr., Daniel Needham, W. C. Wilson, and H. Klayton.

The First district convention was also held here to-day, and elected John W. Stewart, of Middleburg, and E. B. Barton, of Manchester, delegates, and Jas. G. French, of Montpelier, and Jas. G. Everts, of Rutland, alternates.

Rhode Island Election.

Providence, April 4.—The election is progressing with a great deal of vigor in the city, and the indications are that it will give Sprague a large majority in the heaviest vote ever polled. The few returns which have been received from the country towns show that Sprague is also running strong in the State, and it is believed that he will be elected by a decided majority.

PROVIDENCE, April 4, 4 o'clock, P. M.—The State has gone for Wm. Sprague, Democrat, for Concerning the classes and the state of the state Governor, by a large majority.

PROVIDENCE, 12 o'clock—midnight—April 4.—
Seventy-three towns give Sprague 3803, Paddleford 3692. This city gives a large majority for Sprague, and he is probably elected by not less than 1500 majority.

The Legislature is also against the Republicans.

Arrival of the Overland Mail.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 4.—The departure of the California pony express last evening was delayed two hours by the detention of the New York messenger. In the meantime an immense crowd had gathered around the express office to winess the imaguration of this great and novel enterprise. The assembly were addressed by Mayor Thompson and Messrs. Majors and Russell, of the express company, who, in brief and appropriate remarks, set forth the benefits to be derived by the country from this undertaking, the prospects of its future, and its undoubted success; which remarks were received with great applause. The messenger from New York lost a connection by the withdrawal of a train between Detroit and Chicago, which would have detained the express twenty-four hours, but through the courtesy of General Superintendent Hayward, of the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad, who brought him here by a special train from Palmyra, one hundred and ninety-two miles in four hours and fifty-one minutes, making six stops of five minutes each, he arrived so as to delay the express but two hours and fitteen minutes. At a quarter past seven o'clock, the bag containing voluminous telegraphic dispatches from all parts of the country for the Sacramento Union, San Francisco Bulletin, and Alta Californian, forty-nine letters, nine private telegrams and some papers for San Francisco and intermediate points, was, by the request of W. H. Russell, placed upon the pony, a spirited bay mare, by Mayor Thompson, amidst great enthusiasm, when the rider mounted, and the little bay dashed off at a rapid rate, bearing her burden towards the Golden State.

The return courier should arrive here on Friderica and the sure and the party with her other or in the state.
